While we regret to lose him as principal of our schools where he has done such excellent work in the year just closing, we wish him success in his new position.

Dakota City, Neb., May 25, 1914.

The board of county commissioners met pursuant to adjournment. Present, O. W. Fisher, chairman; Thomas Long, George W. Thacker, and George Wilkins, clerk.

Three Graduate from Jackson High School

The Jackson high school will close on Friday morning May 29th. Diplomas will be given to Joseph Leo Hall, Roy Matthew Zulauf, and Robert Emmett McKeever. Though the customary commencement exercises will be omitted, and by the request of the graduates the diplomas will be presented privately in the school room, graduation from the Jackson high school stands for more than the majority of schools demand.

The school board insists that each candidate for graduation shall have passed the examinations for teachers' first grade certificate; that is, one must have no grade below 70 and an average of 80 in the nineteen subjects which comprise the scholarship qualifications required by state board of education for teachers' first grade certificates.

The class of 1914 have not only complied with the ruling stated above but if the returns from the last examination arrive in time will have attained the standing for "With Credit" or "With Honor" certificate. Moreover, the Jackson high school is the only public school in Dakota county on the four years' accredited list of the university. Pupils who can meet the requirements both for university credit and for the severe standard set by the school board, can justly feel proud of their ability, and also that their diplomas are not a meaningless testimony.

The parents of pupils in the primary room and in the intermediate room are invited to the exercises in those respective rooms in the morning and afternoon of May 29th.

May 24, 1884. Judge Warner and Mel Jay, of Dakota City, representing the seven republican candidates for county office in Dakota county who were defeated at the election last fall, returned yesterday from Lincoln, where they filed separate certificates in each case. The names were carried up from the district court, where they were dismissed last fall, and the contents are based on allegations of fraudulent votes cast, repeaters, fraud in the contests, etc. Every office but the county superintendent of schools is involved in the contest.
